

DEFEND THE RIGHT TO PROTEST

FREE THE REFUGEES

Chris Breen was charged with 'incitement' under the 1958 Crimes Act and 29 refugee rights supporters were fined $1652 each (making $48,000 in total) for participating in a car convoy protest calling to free the refugees in the Mantra Hotel and across Australia, because of the threat of Covid-19.

The protest was safe, detention centres aren't.
